EDUCATION IN THE SOUTH.

Extra bulletin No. 11, which has just been issued by the census bureau, contains an exhaustive summary of statistics regarding national education, tables presented, showing the school enrollment in every state in the union, are of great interest and importance.

The facts as to the present school enrollment to population in the southern states are especially significant. It shows that a great gain in the school enrollment in the past decade has been made, not in the north and west, but in the south, and that it has been largely among the colored people.

While the percentage of school enrollment for the whole country has increased since 1887 from 19.35 to 20.22, the ratio in the northern states shows a decline. In the north Atlantic division, comprising Maine, New Hampshire, Vermont, Massachusetts, Rhode Island, Connecticut, New York, New Jersey and Pennsylvania, it has fallen from 20.33 per cent. in 1880 to 17.57 in the year 1890. In the north central division, comprising the states of Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Michigan, Wisconsin, Minnesota, Iowa, Missouri, North Dakota, South Dakota, Nebraska and Kansas, the ratio has likewise decreased, though only slightly. It was 23.55 in 1880 and is 22.35 now. In the western division, which contains Montana, Wyoming, Colorado, New Mexico, Arizona, Utah, Nevada, Idaho, Washington, Oregon and California, has increased its ratio from 16.92 to 17.01 in the decade.

The South Atlantic division of Delaware, Maryland, District of Columbia, Virginia, West Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia and Florida shows an increase of from 16.31 per cent. to 19.77 per cent. in public school enrollment. The South Central division, with the States of Kentucky, Tennessee, Alabama, Mississippi, Louisiana, Texas and Arkansas, makes the remarkable gain from 15.41 per cent. in 1880 to 21.31 in 1890. A fact of the highest importance is the increase of the percentage of school enrollment among the colored people.

In the South Atlantic group of States the gain in white school enrollment since 1880 has been 35.96 per cent. In colored school enrollment it has been 53.52 per cent. In Missouri it is 27.18 and 36.42 per cent. respectively. In the South Central division the colored public school enrollment shows a gain of 70.88 per cent., as against a gain for the whites of 63.46 per cent. In the southern states as a whole the ratio to population of white public school enrollment is 21.68 per cent. The percentage of colored scholars enrolled is 18.53.

While these statistics are necessarily subject to final revision, and while perfect accuracy is by no means claimed for them, they are without doubt approximately correct. The notable increase in school enrollment in the south, and especially among the southern colored people, is a highly encouraging feature. It shows that the negroes are awake to the importance of securing a common school education for their children. The proportion of educated persons of the colored race is steadily increasing, and in this fact is the promise of the destruction of the "solid south" in politics. Knowledge is power for colored people as well as for whites. When the black man becomes educated it will be impossible for southern Democrats to prevent him by force or fraud from exercising his legal rights of citizenship.

With this usual course under the present management the REPUBLICAN makes a cowardly attack upon the editor of the Herald, waiting until after he is out of town before it has the courage to say anything.—Phoenix Herald.

When this paper has an opinion to express it is not in the habit of waiting until it becomes a matter of ancient history. Neither do we expect everyone we want to criticize the acts of a public official to first inquire whether or not the alleged editor of the mugwump organ is in the city. So long as his movements do not affect the welfare of the people of Arizona, they are not of the slightest consequence to us. And again the editor of the REPUBLICAN is badly taken. How many of the business men of Phoenix, for instance, were asked to go? How many knew that the governor had such an appointment to make? If the governor wanted a delegate to go from Phoenix, representing the intelligence and business interests of the Salt River valley, why did he not make the fact public, and ask for volunteers? The truth of the matter is that some one has an axe to grind, and it must be ground, even if the business interests of the entire territory suffer. But the people are not fools enough to be duped by any such argument, and it will take more than the hooted words of a professional politician to convince them that they have not been outrageously snubbed, and to supply for the purpose of hiring a cheap man to turn the crank of the grindstone.

A NEW EXPLOSIVE, called fortis, is being tested by the Belgian government, and is reported to have given really startling results. The substance is now believed to have a force from 30 to 40 per cent greater than that of any other explosive known. A mine 13 feet deep, was drilled in the solid rock, and charged with a relatively small quantity of fortis. It detached a mass over 200 feet high, breaking it into pieces of 50 or 60 pounds, and projecting them to a distance of 350 yards.

A TIMID MAN, living alone in the outskirts of Hartford, has hit upon a novel device for scaring away burglars. Each night upon retiring he places a high pair of boots outside of every bedroom door in the house to convey the impression that every chamber is occupied by a man in a military uniform, who has no time to waste in looting.
